

Valparaiso's Virgil Sweet New GHS Basketball Coach

Virgil Sweet, Head Basketball Coach at Valparaiso High School the past 20 seasons, has been selected by the Greencastle Community Schools to become head basketball coach and Social Studies teacher at Greencastle High School.

The new Tiger Cub mentor recorded 297 wins during his years at Valparaiso. "This is a beautiful chance for our program to become stable and have great leadership in basketball," Lloyd Cooper, Greencastle high school principal said. "We feel he is an outstanding person," the principal added.

In his coaching career at Valparaiso, Sweet's teams won 14 sectionals and two regional championships.

Greencastle's Tiger Cubs fell to Coach Sweet's team in 1964 at Purdue Field House in the semi-state. His team this past season defeated Lebanon in the semi-state before losing to Lafayette Jefferson in the final game.

Valparaiso teams under the Sweet tutelage have been known for their freethrow shooting. The team average at the free throw line has been 734.

The coach has written four basketball booklets entitled "Series of Specifics" purchased by coaches in all 50 states and six foreign countries.

Two colleges use the series in coaching classes. Sweet has spoken at many coaching clinics around the state and country. He has sent more than 50 players to the college ranks.

The coach is at present the executive-director of the Indiana Coaches Association succeeding Marion Crawley in the past.

Operation Catapult Hosts Local Seniors

Edmund P. Taylor, Jr. of 315 East Hanna Street, Greencastle and Everett A. Fischer of Route 1, Coatesville were among the 71 outstanding high school seniors from 25 states who got their first taste of college academics this week as they took part in Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology's annual Operation Catapult program.

Started in 1967, Operation Catapult is a unique incentive program which provides top high school students with the opportunity to investigate problems of engineering and science not normally undertaken at the high school level.

A total of 142 students will participate in the program which has been expanded to two sessions this summer due to the increase in the interest of high school students toward careers in engineering.

This summer's participants come from a broader geographic area than at any time since the program began. Students from as far away as California, Arizona, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Maryland will attend the three and one-half week summer program.

With full enrollments in both sessions of Operation Catapult, Rose-Hulman has reversed a national trend that has seen most colleges having difficulty with declining enrollments in many programs.

Major features of the summer program are the individual attention given each student by members of the Rose-Hulman faculty and the emphasis which is placed on a practical problem-solving approach, including extensive laboratory work and group discussions in the areas of engineering, science and mathematics.

Prof. Alfred R. Schmidt, a professor of mathematics for more than 20 years, is director of the program. Other members of the Catapult faculty include Dr. Oran M. Knudsen, professor of chemistry; Dr. Bruce R. Danner, associate professor of physics

Boys' Staters Form Biggest Band Ever

Ten area students are among the more than 940 high school seniors attending the 37th annual Hoosier Boys' State this week on the campus of Indiana State University. Boys' State is a citizenship training project of the Indiana Department, American Legion.

They are: Thomas Alexander and Curtis Cummings, both of Cloverdale; Max Blackmore of Route 2, Coatesville; Kerry Ames of Route 1, Fillmore; James Bemis of Route 5, Greencastle; Rick Carpenter of Route 5, Greencastle; Connie Hunter of 405 Elm, Greencastle; Rex Call of Route 1, Roachdale; and Dennis Fordice and Eric Bushong, both of Russellville.

The young men were recommended by their principals and counselors and final selection was made by committees from various Legion posts around the state. Each HBS delegate is sponsored by a Legion post in his area.

Boys' Staters learn about the political process during the eight-day session here but they also have a number of other activities. This year's HBS Band is the biggest ever—150 musicians under the direction of Gary Smith, director of the ISU Marching Band. A daily athletic program under the direction of Dr. Walter Gray of ISU's health and safety faculty includes swimming, softball, basketball, track, games and other events.

These 17 and 18-year olds like to sing and do it often and well. The veteran Boys' State music and talent counselor George Kenzler of Lafayette (he wrote the official HBS song) is at the piano again this year for the 30th year, and a former Boys' State delegate Dennis Perry, Indianapolis is the songleader.

S.Sgt. Gerald Pittman Named Top Indiana A.F. Recruiter

Air Force Staff Sergeant Gerald G. Pittman, the Air Force recruiter for Fountain, Montgomery and Putnam counties has been named the top recruiter in Indiana for the month of May.

The award was presented by Lieutenant Colonel William E. Baker, commander of Air Force Recruiting Detachment 500 here recently.

SSgt Pittman is a veteran of 7 years military service, having enlisted on May 1, 1967. As a missile systems analyst specialist the award winning recruiter has served in the states of Illinois, Montana, Texas and Indiana.

He is married to the former Belinda K. Philips of Indianapolis, Ind. He has been a recruiter since July 1973.

Artists Invited To Display Wares At July 4th Festival

Putnam County artists and craftsmen are invited to display, demonstrate and sell their wares at Humphrey Park in Linton during that city's July 4th Festival from July 1-7. Space in the park will be provided by the festival committee for those wishing to participate.

A registration fee of $5 will be assessed those who show their crafts. This will replace the commission previously charged, according to the newly formed Linton Art Club.

Thirty to forty thousand people are expected to pass through Linton during festival week. There is ample hotel, motel and camping space to accommodate everyone, the committee said. For further information contact the Chamber of Commerce, 159 First Street N.W., Linton or call 847-4846.

Three Area Graduates Listed In Foreign Language Who's Who

The second annual edition of "Who's Who of Indiana High School Students in Foreign Languages," published by the University of Evansville, lists three students from Greencastle Senior High School.

The students honored and their languages are: Susan Robertson, Latin; Leota Bo-sen, French; Elizabeth Ann Weiss, French.

The students were nominated by their foreign language department chairman, Mrs. Julia C. Shumaker.

Nominations were made on the basis of outstanding achievement in language study, leadership, scholarship, citizenship and scholastic and civic activities.

Established to recognize outstanding foreign language students, the "Who's Who" edition is a project of the University of Evansville's Foreign Language Department. The project and department are under the direction of Dr. William M. Felsher.

Who's News

Janet Staub Winn, a Greencastle native, has joined the firm of Press, Galvin and Schwandner Advertising as head public relations writer. Mrs. Winn received her formal journalism education at Indiana State University, and has been employed at four newspapers including the Daily Banner and the Daily Graphic.

A 1967 graduate of Greencastle High School, she is the daughter of Mrs. Thelma Staub of Greencastle and the late Edward J. Staub, Sr. She is married to Dana C. Winn, a chemical engineer at Proctor and Gamble in Cincinnati.

Three residents of Putnam County were among over 500 degree recipients from Butler University at its 119th annual commencement exercises at 4 p.m., Sunday, June 2, in Clowes Memorial Hall.

They are: Louis F. Luzar, Route 1, Cloverdale, B.A. in History-Political Science; Victoria Erdmann, Greencastle, M.S. in Education; Rose Marie K. Lewis, Route 1, Reelsville, M.S. in Education.

Gary Franklin Lemmink, of 322 Dogwood Lane, Greencastle, enlisted in the U.S. Navy May 24 at Indianapolis.

Lemmink's first Navy duty station will be recruit training at the Naval Training Center in Orlando, Fla. His enlistment under provisions of the 2 x 6 Naval Reserve Program means his first assignment after recruit training will be Gunner's Mate School.

Lemmink is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Lemmink. He is a graduate of Greencastle High School.

Terry Wayne Brant, of 310 E. Hanna Street, Greencastle, enlisted in the U.S. Navy May 29 at Indianapolis.

Brant's first Navy duty station will be recruit training at the Naval Training Center in Great Lakes, Ill. His enlistment under provisions of the Advanced Electronics Program means his first assignment after recruit training will be Electronics School.

Brant is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Brant. He is a graduate of Winchester High School.

Rick Joe Poorman, of Box 185 Quincy, enlisted in the U.S. Navy June 5 at Indianapolis.

Poorman's first Navy duty station will be recruit training at the Naval Training Center in Great Lakes, Ill. His enlistment provisions of the Seafarer Program means his first assignment after recruit training will be The East Coast For Sea Duty.

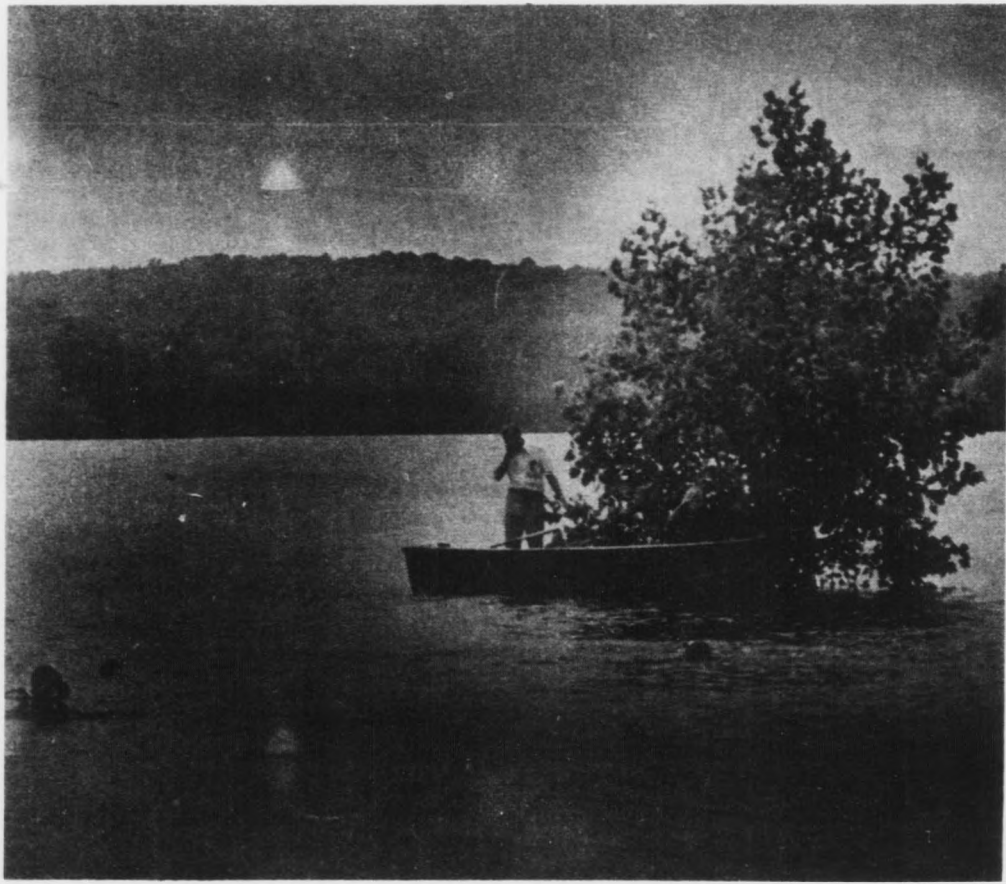

Poorman is the son of Mrs. Carol Nield. He is a graduate of Cloverdale High School.

Eric Trent Boesen, 20, son of Anders Eric Boesen and Mary Louise Boesen of Greencastle, made his first solo flight at the Putnam County Airport where he began taking flying lessons May 19. He soloed in the Cessna 150 on June 13 after only 9.3 hours of flying time. Boesen is working towards a goal of qualifying for his private pilot license this summer.

James Dean Grimes, of 1146 Ave. C, Greencastle, enlisted in the U.S. Navy June 5 at Indianapolis.

"We all live in a yellow Volkswagen." That may be what the fish in Cataract Lake are singing these days. A yellow Volkswagen was driven into the lake two weeks ago and divers from the Putnam County Sheriff's Dept. have been unable to locate it yet due to the muddy flooded waters from Mill Creek. Howard Frederick, Lieber State Park superintendent, and his daughter kept boaters out of the area while Deputies Adams and Hoffa searched for the submerged car.

Volkswagon Lost In Cataract

Divers from the Putnam County Sheriff's Dept. were authorized to dive Thursday afternoon for the yellow Volkswagen owned by Ramiro Hinojosa, 21, of Indianapolis, which was driven off the road at Hulman Beach into Cataract Lake at Lieber State Park on the evening of Saturday, June 1.

Hinojosa is currently being held at the Putnam County Jail on a charge of first degree burglary in connection with an automobile stolen from Howard Frederick, Superintendent at Lieber State Park, on that same night. The Frederick car was later found in Indianapolis after having been involved in a hit-run accident.

Hinojosa was arrested by Det. Sgt. Jack Hanlon, of the Indiana State Police, who has been handling the entire case.

Deputies Jim Adams and Gerry Hoffa were unable to locate the Volkswagen Thursday due mainly to the muddy, flooded waters of the lake. Frederick said the water level

Thursday was still 21 feet above normal. The Army, Corps of Engineers in Louisville had authorized Frederick to begin releasing water through the Cagles Mill Dam two weeks ago, but the rainfall since that time brought the level back to 21 feet, the same as it was on the night the Volkswagen entered the lake.

No further plans for locating the car have been announced at this time.

Today's Weather

Partly cloudy and warm with a 60 per cent chance of showers today with highs from 77-83. Partly cloudy and cooler tonight and tomorrow with lows in the low 50s and highs in the low to mid 70s.

A Little Of: This And That

Thursday was officially the last day for Wilson Wheeler as bailiff of the Putnam Circuit Court.

Wilson, a retired mail clerk, has served in this capacity for several years.

I, for one, will miss him around the courthouse.

I am glad to know that Don Lawrence has returned home from University Hospital in Indianapolis.

I understand that Don is feeling good and plans to return to his work at the Greencastle IBM Plant this coming Monday.

I was also glad to note that Roy (Stew) Negent has been released from the Putnam County Hospital.

Stay out of there, Stew.

As I write this, I haven't seen my old friend Bill Blanchard as yet.

Bill wrote me that he would be in town for the 50th reunion of the Greencastle High School Class of 1924.

Incidentally, the reunion is set for this evening at the DePauw Student Union Building.

Bill said in his letter that he will play the organ at the get together of his former classmates.

Bill, as many of you will remember, played the organ at the Granada Theater in the late 1920s.

By the way, the arrival of the Summer season is now less than a week away.

Let's hope that the rains will quit, at least for a little while.

Here's a day late Happy Birthday greeting to my friend Harley Fender.

Harley observed his birthday yesterday.

Harley, who is a courthouse custodian didn't tell me his age.

Barbara Clark is enjoying a vacation from the office of County Clerk Johnny Masten.

Have fun, Barbara.

Female Labor Leader Says Union Women On The Move

PERTH AMBOY, N.J. (AP) — A new breed of labor union leader is emerging in the country and Barbara Berger is part of it.

Far from the stereotyped image of the cigar-chomping, slick talking union organizer, Mrs. Berger is a pleasant, soft-spoken woman in her 30s, a housewife, mother of two teenage children, who loves to cook and looks as though she'd be more at home at the PTA than at contract negotiations.

But she's helped negotiate four of them successfully for Local 1038, United Auto Workers, at the Woodbridge Ronson lighter plant, and is the only woman UAW leader in New Jersey.

in her post as a working president she can take time off from her job for union business "for which the local reimburses me," she explains.

"Anyone who makes a place in the labor movement should be qualified to do the job, not put there just to have a female on the staff. Token jobs are out," she says emphatically.

"The UAW is beginning to realize that ability counts. I believe there's a change in the trend of thought."

"It used to be that everything was done by political input. Now ability counts, not political pressure."

"When someone sitting on the sidelines knows more than the one in control, nothing is accomplished," she says.

She's determined, she says, to help raise the level of public understanding on political, economic and social issues.

She frankly hopes the future holds a post "I have earned," she says, because she feels women should be recognized in the labor movement.

"We hope to go ahead and make women aware of their role in labor and help those who are not organized to get legislation of interest to women."

How to 'double up' when the time comes

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Here is my story: After 34 years of marriage, my wife died. I bought a double plot—one for her and one for me when my time comes. I couldn't decide on what kind of headstone I wanted for my wife's grave, so I put off buying one.

Meanwhile, I met a woman and things started happening so fast I couldn't believe it. To make a long story short, I married her. In the meantime, my wife's headstone slipped my mind, so my married son got disgusted with me and he bought one and put it up. Then he told me to buy two more lots—one for myself and one for my new wife because he was sure his mother wouldn't want me buried next to her if I couldn't even wait three months to get married again.

I asked him what he planned to do with the empty plot beside his mother, and he said he'd find some other dummy to bury there.

What should I do now?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: I'd buy another double plot—unless your present wife has already made plans to double up with someone else when her time comes.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 33-year-old married man who has had this problem ever since I could tell the difference between a boy and a girl. You guessed it. I can't resist women. Maybe I should say the problem is that women can't resist ME. I'm a pretty good looking guy (I'm told) and have an athletic build and keep in shape, but the ladies tell me it's the sexy look in my eye that gets them.

I love my wife (we've been married for seven years and have two children) but I can't leave other women alone. Right now I have something going with my best friend's wife, and also with my wife's best friend. It's not a heavy love affair in either case, but it's fun.

In my defense, let me say I've never propositioned a woman in my life. They approach me, and I can't say no. Can you help me?

LADIES' MAN

DEAR MAN: I'm all choked up. You can say no if you want to. And you'd better start trying, before somebody does your wife a favor and tells her.

DEAR ABBY: After 32 years of marriage, I finally got up enough gumption to divorce my husband. Although I still cared for him, I couldn't take any more of his cruel and inhuman treatment.

One week after our divorce was final he married another woman. Now listen to this. On his honeymoon he sent ME a dozen roses with the following card: "To a lovely lady with love."

A few days later I received a menu from a resort hotel where he and I had spent our honeymoon. He had written on it: "Remember this place, Darling? Love," ... and then his name.

This has been very upsetting to me. What do you make of it and what should I do about it?

BAFFLED

DEAR BAFFLED: Ignore it. But if he sends any more reminders of him or the past, write and ask him to please keep OUT of touch with you because you want to forget him. He sounds like a very cruel (or sick) man.

DEAR ABBY: A young woman wrote that she was in love with a fine young man but her mother didn't want her to marry him because he was too short.

You suggested that one should measure a man from his eyebrows up. That isn't low enough. You must go to the base of his heart, for there you will find all of his emotions, including love, which is basic to a man's character.

State Fair To Feature Entire Lawrence Welk TV Cast Of Stars

Lawrence Welk and his Champagne Music Makers will be on hand for two dynamic shows in the State Fair Coliseum on Saturday, Aug.

17 at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m., it was announced by Paul G. Thurston, Director in charge of Entertainment.

Welk's shows are part of the $250,000 star-spangled entertainment package put together for the 1974 Indiana State Fair.

Welk, born on a North Dakota farm, left home at the age of 21 to make a career for himself in music. Starting out with George Kelly's "Peerless Entertainers", Welk did his first tour work. At that time he conceived the idea of the sleeper bus, an innovation later developed by many traveling bands.

Welk will bring with him the entire television cast from his hit TV show. All the stars seen every Saturday evening will be on stage in the gigantic State Fairgrounds Coliseum for two super shows, as a part of 1974's cavalcade of stars.

Forming his own band, the young Welk was booked into many highclass hotels, among them the Edgewood Beach Hotel in Chicago, as well as playing countless one-night engagements.

Welk's first coast-to-coast radio show, which introduced the nation to Welk's crisp musical sound, came about when Miller High Life, "The Champagne of bottled beer", became his sponsor. Welk and his group, steadily growing in numbers as well as in national renown, were booked into the Aragon Ballroom in Ocean Park, California. Such was the group's popularity that they landed a local television program.

Then in 1955, Welk was sighted for a summer replacement spot on ABC-TV. Welk's television show caught on with such impact that the troupe was signed for a regular Saturday evening program.

After leaving ABC-TV a few seasons back, the show went into national syndication with tremendous results. Next season landmarks Welk's 20th year on national television. Enjoying more success than ever before, Lawrence Welk and his Champagne Music Makers will soon be in the midst of another yearly tour. One of the brightest stops figures to be this year's action-packed extravaganza, the 1974 Indiana State Fair.

Always a strong State Fair selling card, Lawrence Welk tickets should sell quickly. For tickets send check or money order to Ticket Department, Indiana State Fair, Fairgrounds, Indianapolis, 46205. Prices for both shows are $5 and $4 all reserved seats.

District Judge Sets Trial Date

LONDON (AP) — His great-uncle's death kept Prince Charles from entertaining a California girl at Ambassador Walter Annenberg's farewell party Thursday night, but the heir to the British throne took her to Buckingham Palace instead.

An American Embassy official confirmed that Charles had a secret date with Laura Jo Watkins, 20, the daughter of an admiral from San Diego who came 6,000 miles for the Annenberg's party because the prince asked that she be invited.

Charles, 25, was to have been the guest of honor at the dinner and dance the ambassador and his wife gave to say goodbye after five years in London. The Annengbergs asked Charles if he wanted to invite anyone, and he asked for Miss Watkins. They met last March at a cocktail party when the prince visited San Diego while on duty with the Royal Navy.

Miss Watkins arrived in London Saturday to visit the Annengbergs, but on Monday the Duke of Gloucester died. The court went into mourning until the funeral today, and Charles couldn't go to the party.

Miss Watkins didn't go either. Instead she slipped out of the ambassador's residence just before the party began and was driven to Buckingham Palace. The Daily Mail said she returned to the Annengbergs about 11:30 p.m.

Spokesmen at Buckingham Palace and the U.S. Embassy refused to comment on speculation about a romance between the two.

Miss Watkins was also the prince's guest in the gallery of the House of Lords Thursday to hear him make his first speech to the upper house of Parliament. He was the first Prince of Wales to address the chamber since his great-great-grandfather, who became King Edward VII, did so in 1884.

In San Diego, Calif., Laura's mother said: "I never thought anything like this would happen, but we're taking things in stride."

There was speculation Miss Watkins might be wearing an engagement ring. But her mother said Laura Jo had inherited the gold-and-pearl ring from her maternal grandmother.

The blonde business student, whose rear admiral father is stationed in San Diego, met Charles March 16 at a reception for his Royal Navy ship in the Southern California city.

The two talked at length during the party, and Miss Watkins later received a friendly, handwritten letter from the prince.

Mrs. Watkins said she was besieged by phone calls from British reporters all day Thursday, but couldn't tell them much about her daughter and the prince.

"I'm simply a bystander," she said.

Young Mother Brings Law Suit Against Lederle Co.

TAMPA Fla. (AP) — A 24-year-old mother confined to a wheelchair is suing a drug company for $12.5 million, claiming she contracted polio while changing her baby's diapers after the infant was immunized against the disease.

The suit by Sherry Givens of Auburndale, near Tampa, is being heard in U.S. District Court in Tampa.

It accuses the Lederle Co., makers of an oral polio vaccine, with negligence and carelessness in distribution of the drug Trivalent Oramune.

She claims she became paralyzed in both legs and lost partial use of her arms in 1972 after her daughter, Wendy Anne, 2½, took the polio-litis vaccine in three doses between November 1971 and January 1972. The child has not been affected.

"She was my first baby and I was concerned about her health," Mrs. Givens said in court this week in explaining why she had her daughter immunized. "I wanted to make sure she got the best care."

The suit further charges Lederle with failing to notify the medical profession that it has voluntarily paid thousands of dollars to persons who allegedly contracted polio through the drug.

Mrs. Givens' attorneys told visiting federal Judge George C. Young that the virus could have been transmitted to the mother through the stool of the child within two weeks after the immunization series.

In a letter read to the court, Lederle admitted, "There has been evidence of paralytic disease following injection of oral polio vaccine and some evidence of cases in which it has been contracted through close contact."

However, Lederle, a division of American Cyanamid, said, "Expert opinion is in agreement that the oral polio vaccine is a generally effective and safe method" of immunization.

Mother Is Just A Bystander In Affair

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell today ordered former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman to stand trial along with other defendants in the Plumb case. The judge set a new trial date of June 26.

After nearly three weeks of struggle with the White House over the issue of executive privilege, Gesell said President Nixon has allowed sufficient access to White House files for Ehrlichman's trial to go forward.

Gesell said he had wanted to make sure Ehrlichman would have access to specific files left behind in the White House which might aid his case.

"That has taken place," Gesell said.

Ehrlichman and three other defendants originally were scheduled to go on trial next Monday in connection with the 1971 break-in at the office of Dr. Lewis Fielding, a Beverly Hills, Calif., psychiatrist who treated Pentagon Papers figure Daniel Ellsberg.

But earlier this week, Gesell said he would sever Ehrlich-man's case from that of the other three defendants because of an apparent impasse over Ehrlichman's attempt to gain access to his White House files. Gesell said at that time that Ehrlichman would be tried later.

The break in the legal logjam came Wednesday, when President Nixon waived executive privilege for some documents then in the judge's hands.

Until then, Nixon had been asserting ultimate authority to decide if those documents, handwritten notes of Ehrlichman's, could be admitted as evidence in the coming trial.

• Discipline In Store For Greencastle •

Team unity. Player loyalty to other players and coaches. Team balance in scoring. Hustle.

These are some of the main features that have characterized basketball teams that Virgil Sweet has coached over the past twenty-three years, the last twenty of which have been at Valparaiso High School.

It is likely that these are the features that will characterize the Greencastle High School basketball team during the 1974-75 winter.

Sweet was selected from over fifty applicants to man the helm of the Tiger Cubs next year, bringing him back into the basketball coaching ranks that he never really left.

Talk of his retirement as one of the main motivating forces for Valparaiso's rise to the finals of the semistates provided a good bit of sentiment for last year's state tourney, while making the announcement yesterday of his acceptance of the Greencastle head-coaching position somewhat of a surprise, but Sweet insists that he never retired.

"I announced last summer that I was changing jobs, that last season would be my final one of coaching at Valparaiso."

Sweet had been named Executive Director of the Indiana Basketball Coaches' Association, whose offices are in Indianapolis, too far from Valparaiso to permit both his coaching there and directing in the capital city.

"The people in Valparaiso had a reception for my family and I, which they called an 'Appreciation Day'. That's where the talk about retirement got started."

Leaving aside the words involved with his decision to leave Valparaiso, what prompted the renowned mentor to stay with coaching?

"The reason is that I missed it more than I thought I would. Last season I thought a good deal about what it would be like not to be coaching."

"Then the opportunity at Greencastle came along, the location of which is close to Indianapolis, where most of the Coaches' Association duties will be performed."

"A third factor is that Marion Crawley of Lafayette (the man whom Sweet replaced as Executive Director of the IBGA) agreed to stay on as assistant. That made it possible for me to coach."

In addition to the location of Greencastle, the quality of the school's personnel entered into Sweet's decision to coach here.

"One of the main factors in deciding to accept the Greencastle varsity position was a visit that I had with Mr. Cooper, Mr. Ross, and Mr. Hurst (principal, superintendent, and assistant superintendent of Greencastle schools). I was impressed with their sincerity and interest in building a basketball program."

"I found these same characteristics to be present in my visit with the school board. I am looking forward to a long and happy relationship with those people."

Sweet chooses his words carefully, revealing a meticulous nature that thrives on organization and discipline, factors that were crucial in developing a basketball program in Valparaiso that brought the Vikings 297 victories in his twenty year reign as head coach.

One of those victories came in 1964 against a school where he will now attempt to build a similar program, when his Vikings dropped highly touted Greencastle in the semistates at Lafayette.

The Tiger Cubs outscored Valparaiso by some eleven field goals that afternoon in the Purdue Fieldhouse, but another of the features of a Sweet-coached team brought the Vikings the victory: free throw shooting.

Over a span of 15 years, Sweet's teams have averaged an enviable .734 from the charity stripe. Sweet has developed a pattern of twenty steps in shooting a free throw that enables him to say "most players willing to adopt the practice could be 80% free throw shooters."

Most if not all of Sweet's teams have boasted four or five players that have averaged over 80% for the season.

So besides consistency from the line, what else can Greencastle fans look forward to seeing from the Cubs next year?

"We will look for the fast break, but if it is not there we will set up in a 1-2-2 offense with constant movement by all five players."

Depending on the players he has, Sweet will use any number of patterns off the 1-2-2 offense, but there are certain kinds of ball players that he will be looking for to fill the spots.

On the top he will be looking for a quick, good ball-handling, penetrating guard who doesn't have to be a great shooter.

His two baseline men he would like to be rugged rebounders, without having to be great outside shooters.

In his wingmen Sweet looks for quickness and good shooting, although this does not mean that the scoring will be concentrated in these positions, for the patterns are designed to free men close to the bucket.

"We will have a good physically conditioned ball club. We will work hard and long."

"The first thing I look for in a ball player: does he have a love of the game?"

"Specifically, if we have a three hour practice, I want the player who wants to stay on the court and practice longer."

It seems as though discipline rates highly in Sweet's coaching format.

"I don't believe in shouting at my players. Our coaching staff will tell the players what we want them to do in a normal tone of voice, and if they don't respond, they don't play."

"That's my nature. That's the way we've always done it."

The coaching staff of which Sweet speaks will be important in his endeavor to create a basketball program to his liking in Greencastle, all the way down to those involved with the junior high.

"I visited with Mr. Hurst and Mr. Boling (principal and assistant principal of the junior high), and was very pleased with their attitudes toward a healthy basketball program. I feel that the success of a high school program depends a great deal on the administration and coaches at the junior high level."

"I am also very happy to have (assistant high school coaches) Jim Peck, Doug Miller, and Gerald York with me."

Talking with Peck, who had decided not to be assistant coach next year until learning that Sweet was to be at the helm, one can easily see that the feelings go both ways.

"The community, the school, and the players are all going to be very happy with the type of person we have in Virgil Sweet."

"His philosophy of how you should approach the game—well, it's just terrific. He believes in being fair but firm. He stresses good discipline and is well organized. People are going to see a well-prepared team. There will be good organization through the whole system."

"He's a gentleman. That's the main thing—the integrity of the man."

"Things are going to turn for the better. The kids will enjoy playing—and I'm going to enjoy coaching for him."

The new Cub coach will be moving his family, consisting of his wife Perri, and his daughters, Sandy, who graduated from Valparaiso this spring and will attend IU this fall, and Shari, who will be a sophomore at Greencastle, sometime in late July.

They would prefer to rent until they find "just the house we are looking for."

Sweet, as well as his wife, are originally from Covington, where their parents still reside.

Until moving to Greencastle this summer, Sweet will keep busy conducting a basketball school in Valparaiso for boys from grades 4-8 until July, when he will travel to South Carolina for a clinic.

Next fall he will teach U.S. History and Citizenship courses at the high school. He is particularly interested in the Citizenship course for the type of training offered to the students, which he considers an obligation many schools are nowadays neglecting.

Considering the IBCA Directorship position, Sweet feels he can handle the duties at various non-busy times during the year, as they will not demand his constant attention.

What will be getting his constant attention will be the basketball program at Greencastle, which can only be looking up with Sweet at the helm.

CHICAGO (AP) — Pitcher Burt Hooton doubled to launch a seven-run, third inning and also singled home a run in the same frame Friday as the Chicago Cubs topped the Houston Astros 10-7 behind Jim Todd's brilliant relief pitching.

Hooton's hits were his first of the season after going 0-for-26 but they didn't help him get the pitching decision. The Astros shelled him from the mound in the fourth with Bob Watson's three-run homer capping a four-run uprising.

The Cubs blasted seven doubles, five of them coming in the big third. Joining Hooton in the third inning barrage of doubles were Rick Monday, Jose Cardenal, Andre Thornton and Dave Rosello.

Todd yielded a walk and a single before retiring 13 batters in a row.

Indianapolis jumped into first place in the American Association East Division Thursday night by clobbering Iowa 10-3 for a half-game edge over the Oaks.

Denver walloped Wichita 8-2 in 12 innings in the other games. Tulsa and Oklahoma City were idle.

Tom Carroll, 6-3, pitched a six-inning shutout through six innings, then gave up five hits and all three runs in the last three innings. He walked two and struck out three.

Roger Freed drove in three Indians runs with two doubles; Dave Revering hit a two-run homer and Sonny Ruberto a three-run blast.

At Denver, the Bears scored five runs in the second inning, with Willie Howard contributing a three-run double. Denver, en route to its fifth straight victory, got two runs off Wichita's

George Manz in the first inning, then counted seven straight hits in the second.

Wichita hit Denver's Oscar Zamora hard in the early stages but managed only two runs in the fourth on a sacrifice fly by Ron Matney and a single by Al Montreuil.

At Evansville, a bases-loaded walk with two out in the last of the 12th inning scored the winning run over Omaha.

The Royals scored six runs in the first inning, including Jose Arcia's grand slam homer, and had a 7-0 advantage before the Triplets began fighting back.

With the score 8-8 in the last of the 12th, Dan Meyer led off with a single and Jerry Manuel, Jim Nettles and Bob Molinaro all drew walks for the winning margin.

Wichita will be at Denver tonight, Omaha at Evansville; Iowa will have two games at Indianapolis, and Tulsa plays a doubleheader at Oklahoma City.

Palmer Charges To Open Lead

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, calling on the half-remembered magic that once was his alone, charged out of the past with a 70 and shouldered his way into a share of the second-round lead Friday in the 74th United States Open Golf Championship.

The 44-year-old Palmer, trailed by a massive gallery of the still-faithful army, put together a two-round total of 143, three over par for two trips through the trees, traps, trouble and subtle terror that make up the 6,961-yard Winged Foot Golf Club course.

"I'm not interested in what is leading the golf tournament today," he said. "I'm interested in the end of the tournament. It was not my goal to lead at the end of 36 holes."

"I just wanted to be in the right position."

The right position turned out to be a tie for the top spot with gritty little Gary Player of South Africa, the first-round leader, Hale Irwin and former PGA champion Ray Floyd.

Player, the Masters champion who has his sights set on a one-year sweep of all the game's major titles, had to mount an incredible rally—birdies on four of his last eight holes—to retain a share of the top spot after blowing six strokes to par on the first six holes he played.

He finished with a 73. Irwin, whose seven-year pro career has shown steady improvement, matched par 70 despite a poor finish while Floyd had to chip in three times for a wildly erratic 71.

A pair of youngsters, Tom Kite and Tom Watson—each 24, each in his second year on the pro tour and each seeking his first professional victory—were just one shot back halfway through this, the most prestigious of all the world's golf championships. Kite had a 70 and Watson a 71.

While Palmer and Player remained among the leaders, some of the game's other big guns fired and fell back.

Defending champion Johnny Miller took a horrendous, quadruple-bogey seven on the par-three seventh hole—it took him four strokes to get out of a bunker—had a 75, a 151 total and wrote himself out of title contention.

"I'll be yukking it up the next two rounds, just having fun," said Miller, the sensation of the pro tour with five victories already this season.

Jack Nicklaus struggled to a 74—149, nine shots over par and six behind.

Tom Weiskopf had a 73—149. Millionaire Bruce Crampton took 77—149.

Their problems were nothing when compared with those of Lee Trevino, England's Tony Jacklin and Billy Casper, who scored the first of his two U.S. Open triumphs on this same course 15 years ago.

All three missed the cut; it took a score of 153 to qualify for the final 36 holes. Casper had 76—156. Jacklin took 76—154. Trevino struggled to a 78—156.

"I just didn't play well enough to handle this course," said Trevino, who left immediately for his home in El Paso, Tex. "It's the hardest course I've ever seen."

While the scores remained high—the three-over-par figure was the highest to lead after 36 holes since the 1955 U.S. Open—the course played about one shot easier than it had the day before.

There were four subpar rounds. Bert Yancey had 69—145. Frank Beard was 69—146. Larry Ziegler improved 10 shots, from 78 to 68. Hubert Green, a three-time winner this season, improved an incredible 14 shots, from 81 to 67.

By contrast, Player was the only man able to match par in the exceptionally high scoring of the first round.

It's 10-1 That Nobody Breaks Par At Mamaroneck

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — The scores ranged as high as 88. Jack Nicklaus shot 75. Tom Weiskopf had 76. So did Johnny Miller. Jacklin had 78. Lee Trevino took 78 strokes.

Why? Why were the scores so high in this, the most prestigious of all the world's golf championships?

"First of all," Miller said, "it's an awfully long course. It plays a lot longer than 6,961 yards. A lot longer."

"It's the hardest course I've ever seen—ever," said Colbert. "The greens are the course," said Nicklaus. "You are scared of every putt. They are the fastest greens I've ever seen in an Open."

The course, nestled in the gently-rolling hills of suburban New York, features the deep, clinging rough common to Open courses. The fairways are only 30 yards wide. The traps are numerous, yawning and deeper than those usually encountered on regular tour stops.

But it was the glass-slick greens and the pin placements that made the difference.

"The course is tough, but fair," said Palmer. Nicklaus had much the same sentiment, despite the fact that he three-putted four times and, on the first hole, had a 25-footer for birdie, then a 28-footer for par.

"I'd like to see greens like this every week. You'd have to learn to putt them or get off the tour and go home. They require a touch. If we had a course like this every week you'd see the really good players winning more often."

Of the 150 players in the field, 44 failed to break 80. They included former Open champions Ken Venturi, Billy Casper and Gene Littler, former Masters champion Bob Goalby and Hubert Green, a three-time winner this season.

Jackson Leads AL Voting

NEW YORK (AP) — Oakland's Reggie Jackson, the Most Valuable Player in 1973, led all American League players with nearly a quarter of a million votes in the first week of balloting for the All-Star team.

Figures released by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office today showed Jackson with 242,143 votes in the fan balloting.

Next among the outfielders was Al Kaline of Detroit, who has been used mostly as a designated hitter this season. He had 99,148 votes.

Bobby Murcer of the New York Yankees and Willie Horton of Detroit were neck and neck for the third outfield position.

Murcer had a slight lead with 95,335 votes to 92,658 for Horton.

Other position leaders were Boston catcher Carlton Fisk; his teammate, Carl Yastrzemski, at first base; Minnesota's Rod Carew at second; shortstop Bert Campaneris of the Oakland A's; and Buddy Bell of Cleveland at third base.

The closest race, other than between Murcer and Horton, was at first base where Yastrzemski had 104,445 votes, fewer than 9,000 ahead of Chicago's Dick Allen.

Almost a half million votes were cast in the first week of balloting. The All-Star teams will meet Tuesday night, July 23, in Pittsburgh.

Semistates Today

Tradition is taking a beating in the eighth annual Indiana High School Athletic Association State Baseball Tournament and only Lafayette Jefferson will reflect the old in Saturday's semistate action.

Defending champion Jeff is the only one of five former state baseball titlists still in the running among the Sweet 16. The Bronchos play host to their own semistate, while the other tournaments will be played at Richmond, Jasper and South Bend.

The fourth-ranked Bronchos are considered the favorite to win an unprecedented third state crown. They head into the semistate opener against Logansport with a 29-6 record and a string of 32 straight scoreless innings by their strong pitching staff.

Jeff made a shambles of its own regional last week with 15-0 victories over both Attica and Western of Howard County. Keith Murphy fired a no-hitter in the semifinal victory over Attica and heads into the semistate action with a 12-0 record and only three earned runs allowed in 72 2-3 innings.

But the semistate won't be a breeze for the Bronchos. If they get by the Berries, as expected, they'll likely face third-ranked Terre Haute North in the finale.

North's Patriots take a 21-2 record against unheralded Brownsburg in the semifinal round. And pitchers Tim Mundy and Nate Mills lead North with 9-0 and 7-0 records, respectively.

In other semistate action, fifth-ranked Seymour and No. 20 Bloomington North will collide in the opening game at Jasper. Seymour's Owls, with a 28-4 record, have more victories than any of the remaining teams except Lafayette.

The winner of that game will be favored to beat the winner of the Logansport-Evansville Memorial game for the Jasper title.

At Richmond, the ninth-ranked host Red Devils are the only ranked team among the four. They are favored to stop Jennings County in the semifinal round and the winner of the Indianapolis Marshall-Kokomo Hawthorn contest in the championship game.

South Bend Washington's Panthers are the only ranked team in the South Bend semistate, but are expected to get a strong battle for the title.

Crown Point stopped 11th-ranked Hammond Noll, a former state champion, to win the East Chicago regional. And that will be Washington's first challenge.

Unranked Fort Wayne Elmhurst, which upset second-ranked Fort Wayne Northrop in the Fort Wayne regional finale, will take on Merrillville in the other South Bend semifinal.

The four semistate winners will meet at Lafayette's Columbian Field Saturday, June 22, for the state title.

Shumate Signs With NBA's Phoenix Suns

PHOENIX (AP) — John Shumate, an All-American center from Notre Dame, signed a multi-year contract Friday with the Phoenix Suns of the National Basketball Association.

The 6-foot-9 Shumate, the Suns' first draft choice, and his lawyer came to terms with the club after two weeks of negotiations. Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

Shumate led Notre Dame as a junior to a second place finish in the 1973 National Invitational Tournament. He was selected as the tournament's most valuable player.

"I like the program, the town and the people and I'm anxious to get going," Shumate said at a news conference after signing the contract.

Suns' General Manager Jerry Colangelo refused to disclose terms of the pact, but it is believed to run for more than five years.

"The signing of Shumate really adds stature to the franchise," said Colangelo. "He's the best known rookie we've ever signed."

All-Star Jordan Profile

Third in a series of profiles on The Indiana High School All-Star Basketball players.

It's been a pretty good year for Indiana All-Star Walter Jordan.

Fort Wayne Northrup's 6-6 frontliner gave a very convincing performance in the state tournament, averaging 19.2 points and 9.1 rebounds per game while helping bring the city its first state championship since 1958.

While the Bruins earned an impressive 28-1 season record, Jordan was pumping in an average of 19.2 points per game and connecting on 65 per cent of his free throws.

With stats like that, there's no doubt that Walter will be the man to watch when the Indiana preppers battle Kentucky June 29.

Regarding his selection to the All-Star team, Jordan said, "It's a great tribute, but it was my coaches and teammates that put me here. This series against Kentucky is great because it proves that we play the best basketball in the United States."

When the going gets tough, the tough get going and Jordan is a prime example of his own philosophy. Northrup coach Bob Dille, who will also assist Kirby Overman in coaching the All-Stars in the Blind Fund series, had nothing but praise for the 180 lb. basketball ace.

"When the chips were down," Dille related, "Walter was the one who always came through. An example of this was our game against Logansport. We'd lost two of our best players on fouls and were down five or six points in the second half. It was Jordan who scored the next six baskets."

"With all the turbulence in our society today, to coach a young man such as Walter was a rewarding experience," Dille remarked.

Nicknamed "cheerleader" by his teammates, Jordan was famous for getting his squad psyched up for each game. "When you're mentally right," he said, "then half the game is already won."

Jordan, who didn't start playing on the varsity team until his junior year, prefers man-to-man defense over zone. Why? "It takes more guts to get down there and stop the other guy from scoring."

Next fall, Northrup's big gun will attend Purdue University where he plans to major in physical education. "I chose Purdue because I liked Fred Schaus and it was my way of saying 'thank you' to the people of Indiana for being so good to me," he explained.

Walter, one of ten children, says his hobbies are listening to music and talking to girls.

"Owning A Home Has Proved To Be One Of The Most Worth-while Investments In A Period Of Rising Prices." quoted from U.S. News and World Report (June 17, 1974)

True in the past, and likely to be true in the years ahead! At least some degree of inflation appears to be an accepted factor in our economic future.

In 1941 a Putnam County farm sold for $35.00 per acre. In the 1960's 40 acres of this same farm, with no improvements, sold for $900.00 per acre.

Despite this inflation, you can still buy a well built seven room older home one block from the Greencastle Square for $13,500, or a like new 7 rm. home at the edge of town for $25,900. Both good buys considering inflation. We have other buys which we consider equally attractive.

Q. — I have made a table from hickory and now want to put a stain on it. I originally planned to fill the pores of the wood with a filler, but now that the table is put together, I like the effect of the textured wood. I planned on sealing the stain before applying the filler, but now I am skipping the filler, should the stain be sealed?

A. — That is one of the many controversial points on which wood finishing advocates do not agree. I have seen many finishing jobs which look great even though no sealer of any kind was used — just stain and varnish. Others appeared quite second-rate. But sometimes it is difficult to determine which part of the project caused the poor result. For my own part, I have always used a sealer both under and over the stain. And, as they say in baseball, I see no reason to change a winning lineup.

Apartment dwellers need not envy their country cousins in the current craze for growing plants. Any little flower pot or box can become a garden for food or pleasure if sun is available. So says city gardener Kerry Fitzgerald whose well-staffed business enterprise includes "sick calls" on house plants, a plant clinic and rooftop landscaping in New York City.

"People are growing just about everything in their homes and on terraces and patios and they want to know how to do it without sprays. We are planning more and more vegetable patches and cutting gardens. Even tomatoes can be trained to grow around a window that gives about five hours of sun. Radishes can be grown. Basil, parsley, chives and mint are easy to grow in the house," he explained. A native of New Zealand who has traveled a lot, he has had occasion to study gardens in many countries.

A window box 18 by 36 can accommodate quite a number of plants, he insists. In fact the smaller the garden, the more fun. You can concentrate your care.

One woman has little pots of lettuce growing on window shelves all the year, he remarked. She starts another pot every few weeks and salad greens are always available. Other people grow herbs for their omelettes and stews.

Fitzgerald began operating the 20-year-old The City Gardener seven years ago upon the retirement of its owner, Philip Truex, son of the late actor Ernest Truex. So successful has the endeavor become — they even oversee gardens in California — they are planning to branch out in other states. In their two-level shop with its hundreds of plants hanging and growing everywhere, there isn't a seed for sale — at the moment they are all out.

The incentive for many home gardeners was provided by ecology and the new home grower usually needs help, one reason Fitzgerald established the clinic where plants may be brought for consultation with a horticulturist without charge. There is free advice on garden plans, lectures are given and there is a repotting service. Home garden sitters — butlers, maids and others — are also trained in the fine art of plant care indoors or outdoors.

"You can grow vegetables nicely on a small terrace," Fitzgerald insists. "On a back frame you can have tomatoes; below, where the tomatoes get straggly, is a good place for peppers. Then can come a border of lettuce and radishes. Runner beans, strawberries, raspberries — grapes do especially well on terraces — may all be grown in boxes. On wheels, the boxes can be shifted about."

For that kind of garden he likes a space of about 10 by 5 feet.

One of his newest enterprises is rooftop landscaping. He and his assistant, Sueo Miyagawa, are "big on gazebos" and other latticing. In fact Miyagawa, an industrial designer who has been with the enterprise only a short time, explained that the landscapes "can go as high as $50,000." His first rooftop was a $10,000 job.

Born on the Island of Maui of Japanese descent, he attended the Institute of Design in Chicago, planning to go into graphics. He was designing packaging when he met Fitzgerald who persuaded him to join the business. Now he is doing his boyhood thing.

"I grew up on a chicken farm and tended the vegetable garden, so I'm happy to hitch my design training to gardens. It will be much easier when I don't need to study each plant as I go along."

Miyagawa hasn't seen his gardens reach fruition. For example, he planned a yellow and white garden planted for a woman who doesn't like pink. He is anxious.

"There are so many interesting facets to the whole thing. When we plant something like wisteria that doesn't grow so fast, next to it we may plant silver lace and honeysuckle, fast growers that may be removed when the slow growers get started."

Going Down The Valley

By Mark H. Nunley, preacher
Cloverdale Church of Christ

The words of the familiar song have much to say to us: "We are going down the valley, going towards the setting of the sun. We are going down the valley, going down the valley one by one." Life is a very short cycle. We quickly pass from youth to middle-age. Then we quickly pass from middle-age to old age. Then we quickly pass from old age to our departure from this life. All of us are going down the valley. Our lives are quickly running out. And it will not be long until we "fly away" to use the words of David in Psalms 90:10. In the hustle and bustle of each of our busy lives as we run in many different directions, we find that there are 5 unconditional musts that we all shall face:

WE MUST LIVE UNTIL WE DIE. This may sound a bit childish on the surface, but when we think about it, it is a truth that has great significance for us. What is this significance? The importance is that it tells us that we need to be preparing for death in the time that we have upon the earth. The whole purpose of Christ's sojourn on the earth, His death, and His resurrection is that we might be prepared to face death victoriously. So the questions that we must ask are these: Are you living your life as a Christian? Are you a member of the Lord's church? Have you exalted Jesus as your King, avior, and Lord? Has the blood of Christ washed your sins away because you are baptized into His body (Gal. 3:26-27, 1 Cor.

A hat, last worn by Napoleon in 1815, was sold in an auction in France in 1970 for $29,800.

About 2.3 million barrels of crude oil move daily on Canadian pipelines.

12:13)? Or, Do you live your life as a sinner? Do you rebel against the commandments of God and refuse to obey them? Do you cheat and run-around on your husband or wife? Do you drink or smoke? Do you dance? Do you lie and cheat to get what you want? Do you believe in the hypothesis of evolution? Do you reject the Bible as being God's Word? Do you refuse to be baptized into Christ (he buried in water, Rom. 6:3-4 Co. 2:12)? You see, we are living our lives in only one of the two possible ways. Either we are for the Lord, or we are against Him. We find this admonition in Eccl. 12:13, "Fear God, and keep His commandments: for this is the whole duty of man."

WE MUST ALL DIE UNLESS OF COURSE WE ARE ALIVE WHEN JESUS RETURNS. One of these hours our life will be taken from us. Heb. 9:27 says, "It is appointed unto men once to die." And 1 Cor. 15:22 says, "In Adam all die." Unless we are among the living when Jesus returns, we are going to leave this earthly life through the avenue of death. At the point of death, our record is sealed and our destiny is unchangeable. And if we are among the living at Christ's return, our record then becomes sealed and destiny unchangeable also. So we need to heed the admonition in Isaiah 38:1, "Set thine house in order: for thou shalt die and not live." In Eccl. 9:10 we find, "Whatever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave wither thou goest."

WE MUST ALL ANSWER THE RESURRECTION CALL. John 5:28-29 says, "Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear His voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil unto the resurrection of damnation." The grave is not the end. Life isn't really over when we die. There is something beyond the grave, that something is eternity. Man has an immortal soul that shall live forever. And when Jesus comes He will call forth the dead, and all of the dead must answer that call and come forth. This gives the Christian hope for he knows that something better awaits on the other side than that we have in this life.

WE MUST APPEAR AT THE JUDGEMENT SEAT OF CHRIST. II Cor. 5:10 says, "For we must all appear at the judgement seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad." Heb. 9:27 says, "It is appointed unto men once to die; but after this the judgement." Eccl. 12:14 says, "For God shall bring every work in to judgement, with every secret thing, whether it be good or evil." We shall all gather before the throne of Christ to give answer for the lives that we have lived.

WE MUST LIVE ETERNALLY SOMEWHERE. Matt. 25:46 says, "And these (the wicked) shall go away into everlasting punishment; but the righteous into life eternal." We must spend eternity either in heaven or in hell. WHICH one shall it be for you and for me? If we faithfully serve the Lord, obeying the Bible to the very best of our ability, heaven is ours. If we reject Christ, or if we halfheartedly follow the Bible, hell is ours. We are making that choice right now by the life that we are living.

As we all walk down the valley of life, let us recognize these 5 musts and live our lives accordingly!

Five Things God Wants You To Know

1. You need to be saved from your sins. (John 3:3; Romans 3:23)
2. God cannot save you without your cooperation. (Acts 2:40, 26:20; James 2:24; Philippians 2:12)
3. God has already made preparations for your salvation. (John 3:16; 1 Peter 3:24; 2 Corinthians 5:21)
4. In order to become a recipient of God's grace man must obey Christ Hebrews 5:8, 9. In order to fulfill our obligation we must
  - a) BELIEVE - Mark 16:15, 16; Romans 10:9
  - b) REPENT - Luke 13:3; Acts 2:38
  - c) CONFESS CHRIST - Matthew 10:32, 33; Romans 10:10
  - d) BE BAPTIZED - Acts 2:38, BY IMMERSION - Romans 6:3, 4
5. You need to be saved from your sin today. (Isaiah 55:6; 2 Corinthians 6:2; Hebrews 2:1)

Remember friends, "EVERY ONE OF US SHALL GIVE ACCOUNT OF HIMSELF TO GOD." (Romans 14:12)

IS REVIVAL POSSIBLE?

We have received responses from several friends who conclude from such passages as II Tim. 3:1-13 that there cannot possibly be a revival before the Lord comes for His own.

We have never concurred in this view. Verses 2-7 of this passage describe the condition of the ungodly about us. These have "a form of godliness" but not the reality and it is these who will "wax worse and worse" (Vers. 5, 13). "From such" the Spirit exhorts us to "turn away" (Ver. 5).

But why, in the midst of these "perilous times" should the Church not be strong and united? The Word of God often shines brightest when the days are darkest.

A true spiritual revival takes place in the blood-bought Church of God not in the wicked world about it. That which is dead cannot be revived but that which has life can and should be. We know of no Scripture that should deter us from praying for a true spiritual awakening among God's people. Indeed we must be careful lest we cease praying and toiling for a revival on the grounds that "times are getting worse and worse and there's not going to be a revival."

It seems to us that one of the surest ways to grow spiritually indifferent ourselves is to conclude that God will not grant us a spiritual awakening no matter what we do.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Orville is the type of talented salesman who can zoom attendance at Sunday School and also fill the empty pews. For Jesus employed superb psychology to attract crowds, hold their interest, and disseminate His precepts via narratives (parables).

CASE A-660: Orville T., aged 34, is a Sunday School teacher.

"Dr. Crane," he said, "I first got interested in Bible reading from following your daily newspaper Quiz Column."

"For you'd offer us matching problems of a dramatic sort and then list the Bible references where we could read the full account."

"And your psychological strategy in 'selling' the Bible intrigued me doubly, for I am an insurance salesman. "Thus, when you asked us to identify the 'Hot Rod Driver' of the Bible or the man who lost his life because he didn't get a haircut, I figured you were a salesman at heart."

"So can you offer any evidences of political propaganda in the Bible to show that Watergate was not a new incident?"

BIBLE WATERGATES

Before he became Prime Minister of Egypt and the world's first Food Administrator, Joseph narrowly escaped a moral trap. At that time, he was directing the vast estate of a high ranking Egyptian official.

But the latter's wife, probably childless, repeatedly tried to seduce Joseph. He resolutely resisted her attempts until one day she grabbed him by his coat.

When he fled, leaving his coat in her hand, she pulled what might be called a "Watergate Scandal."

For she screamed for the servants to come back into the house.

Then she fabricated a story that Joseph had tried to assault her and waved his coat in lieu of Watergate "tapes."

But she also injected racial bias by telling her Egyptian servants that it was thus a foreigner (Hebrew) who had contrived to deceive her husband.

Joseph was then given a prison sentence (Genesis, Chapter 39).

But you can also find a classical example of propaganda in the book of Numbers, Chapter 13.

For 10 of the 12 spies were "chicken" about going into the Promised Land, so they propagandized the people with a negative, horrendous report of giants.

Only Caleb and Joshua stood pat and urged an immediate invasion.

Apparently, God let the Israelites mill around for 40 more years in the Wilderness, till the cowardly generation had died off.

Bold Caleb, though 85 years old, then chose for his lot the land of the giants, probably to help set a positive example before the rest, to avoid another 40 years of aimless wandering in the Wilderness.

And in II Samuel, Chapter 13, you can see how Absalom slew his half brother at a banquet because the latter had sexually assaulted Absalom's sister. All the other sons of King David were present but fled for their lives. But note the propaganda "tidings" in Verse 30:

"...tidings came to David, saying Absalom hath slain all the king's sons, and there is not one of them left."

But Jonadab, David's nephew, reassured the king that only one of his sons had been murdered.

Even Jesus employed advertising psychology by launching the first nationwide advertising campaign.

For Christ sent 70 Disciples ahead of Himself, 2 by 2, to publicize his forthcoming sermon engagements (Luke, Chapter 10).
